Comments

Manager stated facility has water base soups that they cool leftovers and reheat the next day. Discussed moving facility to high risk facility and discussed proper procedures for cooling and reheating soups. Manager stated soups are cooled with lid off in commercial refrigerator, lid placed back on container once cooled, soup is reheated in soup cooker to above 180F within 2 hours per company policy and then hot held above 140F. Discussed facility's ill food worker policy.
