Comments

Visit to facility in response to complaint investigation of barehand contact with ready to eat foods and lack of hair restraints. During visit no barehand contact observed with any ready to eat foods. Observed employees using gloves to prepare burgers at the sandwich make unit and using utensils to scoop french fries and chicken nuggets into containers for service. Observed several employees wearing visors, hats, and hair ties to keep hair out of face. Food workers are not required by sanitary code to wear hair nets and hair restraints as long as hair is kept out of face to minimize chance of touching face while working with food. Acceptable alternatives include short hair, hat, visor, pony tail, etc. Observed employee washing hands between glove use. No evidence observed to support complaint.
